The information made available on the Company's website and during the conference call may contain certain "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Forward-looking statements include statements regarding, among other things, our current expectations about the Company's future results and financial condition, revenues, store openings and closings, employee reductions, margins, expenses, expense savings, earnings, dividends, share repurchases and total shareholder return and are indicated by words or phrases such as "anticipate," "estimate," "expect," "project," "we believe," "can" and similar words or phrases. These forward-looking statements involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other factors which may cause actual results, performance or achievements to be materially different from the future results, performance or achievements expressed in or implied by such forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements are based largely on the Company's expectations and judgments and are subject to a number of risks and uncertainties, many of which are unforeseeable and beyond our control. The factors that could cause actual results to materially differ are identified in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K, Form 10-Q and Form 8-K reports filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC"). The information made available also may include certain non-GAAP financial measures, as defined under SEC rules. A reconciliation of any such measures will be included in the Company's earnings release and other public disclosures, as required, on the Company's investor relations website, <http://investor.ralphlauren.com>. The Company undertakes no obligation to update or revise any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise.
